Counsel for Movant Eagle Forum Education &
Legal Defense Fund

Pursuant to FED. R. APP. PROC. 27 and Circuit Rule 27, movant Eagle Forum Education & Legal Defense Fund (“EFELDF”) requests leave to file a Notice of Supplemental Authority in support EFELDF’s pending motion for leave to file an amicus curiae brief in support of the defendants-appellees Presidential Advisory Commission on Election Integrity et al. EFELDF requests leave to make this procedurally anomalous filing due to the confluence of two other unusual procedural aspects of this case: (1) rather than file an opposition to EFELDF’s motion, plaintiff-appellant Electronic Privacy Information Center (“EPIC”) elected to disparage EFELDF’s proffered brief in a footnote to its reply brief on the merits, Reply Br. at 3, n.3; and (2) under the expedited briefing schedule, a merits panel is already assigned, which means that the panel that will decide EFELDF’s unopposed¹ motion for leave to file will be the merits panel, not a separate motions panel.

While, in the normal course, a motions panel would review only EFELDF’s unopposed motion and its accompanying amicus brief, the merits panel will have access to EPIC’s disparaging footnote. That access potentially prejudices EFELDF’s leave to file, without the opportunity that the rules provide to support its motion for leave to file with a reply that counters the arguments against the filing. Fed. R. App. P. 27(a)(4). EFEDLF thus respectfully requests this opportunity to respond.

Since EPIC's footnote rests primarily on one inapposite decision, Eldred v. Reno, 239 F.3d 372, 378 (D.C. Cir. 2001), EFELDF seeks this Court's leave to file the accompanying Notice of Supplemental Authority in support of EFELDF's pending motion to address Eldred and EPIC's indirect attack on EFELDF's pending motion. Although EFELDF does not seek to supplement the merits briefing, this Court has the power to allow an amicus to supplement the merits briefing with either a reply, FED. R. APP. P. 27(a), 29(a)(7), or a notice of supplemental authority, FED. R. APP. P. 27(a), 28(j). so the Court clearly has the power to allow a Notice of Supplemental Authority in support of a motion for leave to file to cure the non-moving party's collateral attack on the proffered filing. Alternatively, this Court could grant leave to file the accompanying document pursuant to FED. R. APP. P. 27(a), 28(j), thus allowing both parties the opportunity to respond under Rule 28(j).²

EFELDF does not seek to supplant the parties here by inserting itself further than its station as a would-be amicus. While it does not seek more than the rules allow, EFELDF nonetheless seeks to counter EPIC's gambit to provide EFELDF less than the rules provide. In lieu of this filing, EFELDF offered EPIC the opportunity to announce EPIC's belated consent to EFELDF's amicus brief, but EPIC declined. By contrasting the situation here with the one in Eldred, movant EFELDF respectfully submits that the accompanying notice will aid the Court's consideration of either – or both – the pending motion or the underlying appeal.

² Although EFELDF's primary form of requested relief – namely, a notice of supplemental authority in support of a motion – has no procedural requirements, per se, in the rules, EFELDF has styled its notice in the format of Rule 28(j) (i.e., a 3509-word letter). Because EFELDF's amicus brief had 5,695 words, the addition of these 350 words would not put EFELDF over the 6,500 words allotted to amicus briefs.

WHEREFORE, for the foregoing reasons, movant Eagle Forum Education & Legal Defense Fund respectfully requests leave to file the accompanying Notice of Supplemental Authority in support of EFELDF's motion for leave to file an amicus curiae brief in support of the defendants-appellees.

ORAL ARGUMENT SCHEDULED FOR NOVEMBER 21, 2017

October 4, 2017

Via Electronic Case Filing System

Mr. Mark J. Langer
Clerk of the Court
U.S. Court of Appeals, D.C. Circuit
333 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20001

Re: Electronic Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Presidential Advisory Comm’n on Election Integrity, No. 17-5171 (D.C. Cir.)

Notice of Supplemental Authority Regarding Eldred v. Reno, 239 F.3d 372, 378 (D.C. Cir. 2001)

Dear Mr. Langer:

Rather than oppose the Eagle Forum Education & Legal Defense Fund (“EFELDF”) motion for leave to file an amicus curiae brief, plaintiff-appellant Electronic Privacy Information Center (“EPIC”) uses its merits reply brief (at 3, n.3) to disparage the amicus brief under Eldred v. Reno, 239 F.3d 372, 378 (D.C. Cir. 2001). Eldred is inapposite.

First, EFELDF’s supported parties never “themselves took the position ... diametrically opposed to that of the amicus.” Eldred v. Ashcroft, 255 F.3d 849, 850-51 (D.C. Cir. 2001) (emphasis added). Instead, EFELDF’s positions supplement appellees’ positions.

Second, with the exception of Article III jurisdiction – discussed next – any distinctions between EFELDF’s and appellees’ positions are statutory issues, not constitutional ones subject to the “rule of avoidance” at issue in Eldred. Id. at 851.

Third, the hesitation to consider arguments raised solely by an amicus does not apply to jurisdictional arguments, Kamen v. Kemper Fin. Servs., 500 U.S. 90, 97 n.4 (1991), such as the ones that EFELDF raises regarding EPIC’s standing.

Fourth, where EFELDF’s brief argues matters not argued by appellees, those matters nonetheless fall within the overall issues raised by appellees. See Eldred,

Clerk of the Court

255 F.3d at 852-53 (distinguishing between issues and arguments) (Sentelle, J., dissenting from denial of rehearing en banc). Because EFELDF stays within appellees' issues – albeit with different arguments – appellees could raise the EFELDF arguments on appeal, Yee v. Escondido, 503 U.S. 519, 534-35 (1992), so it would be passing strange if this Court cannot consider them here.

Fifth, even amicus-raised issues that the Court does not consider are valuable for highlighting issues the Court can disavow, thus making clear what not to decide. See, e.g., U.S. v. Hunter, 786 F.3d 1006, 1008 (D.C. Cir. 2015) (“[w]e therefore leave for another day the challenging questions raised by Amicus”); Am. Farm Bureau Fed’n v. EPA, 559 F.3d 512, 519 (D.C. Cir. 2009).

Accepting EPIC’s view – namely, that amici can argue neither what parties already argue nor what they omit – would collapse amicus practice to the apocryphal small town with the sign saying “Entering Amicus Practice” on both sides of the sign (i.e., no town exists).
